

Car Free Walks

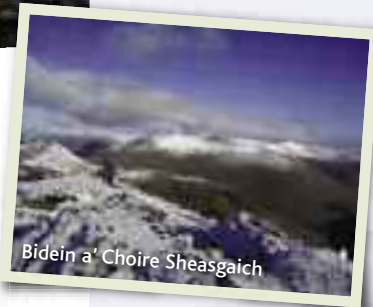

Newsletter # 6
Winter 2012

A cold cow in the Yorkshire Dales

Hot off the press

We were delighted to feature in the Guardian's green travel list in October (<http://bit.ly/tsZYzE>). Over Christmas, we contributed to the Independent's 50 winter walks feature (<http://ind.pn/rQzL6V>) and also contributed to the Green Traveller blog (<http://bit.ly/tclmTi>). And Gary's trip to Bidein a' Choire Sheasgaich was in the latest edition of Summit, the BMC's magazine.

Bidein a' Choire Sheasgaich

If you are in south-west England this winter, look out for our guides to walks from stations on the Heart of Wessex line, or download one here:

www.heartofwessex.org.uk/exploring.html

Exploring Swaledale

The Yorkshire Dales are stunning in winter and the Dalesbus network will get you around most of the region. Try exploring Swaledale, with good walks all along the dale including this route near Keld.

www.carfreewalks.org/walks/723/great_shunner_fell

Been on a great walk? Submit it at: www.carfreewalks.org

Member benefits

Cicerone have kindly extended their 20% discount on walking, trekking, mountaineering, climbing and mountain biking books to CFW members for 2012, with free p&p in the UK – thanks Cicerone! Log on to the community pages for more details.

Winter prize draw

This quarter we have five copies of Alastair Sawday's 'Special Places to Stay - Wales' guidebook to give away.

The prize was kindly provided by Visit Wales - take a look at their website to find out more about walking holidays and romantic breaks (www.visitwales.co.uk). To enter, simply submit a walk by the end of March 2012.

Next newsletter

The next newsletter will be out in April. Please send us any news and until then, happy walking!

Want to blog for us?

Drop us a line at: info@carfreewalks.org and follow us on Twitter @Car_Free_Walks and Facebook

Car Free Walks will send all members a short newsletter, with updates from the site, every three months. If you do not want to receive future newsletters, please contact us.

Newsletter designed by: the ethical graphic design company^{ltd}

www.carfreewalks.org